WELLINGTON FORECLOSURE SALE.

Hundreds of Small Lots This Week.
Hundreds of Large Lots This Week.
Hundreds of New Lots This Week.

A stock so vast and varied cannot be turned into cash in a single day or week; nor can it be done without most extraordinary values. Our hundreds of thousands of bargain sparks have electrified the country.

From the very beginning of the sale we have done a great and overshadowing business.

The first week we had a crowd, the second week we had a jam, and since then customers have been coming in such overwhelming numbers that hundreds of extra salespeople have found employment.

In the silks, in the dress goods, in the linens, the hosiery, the gloves, the wrappers, the shoes, the clothing—it is hard to be sure where the throngs are thickest.
One thing is plain: The greatest good cheer prevails everywhere. The key of it all is the extra big money's worth of desirable goods. Whether money is tight with you or not it is pleasant to have a dollar buy about as much as two would in the ordinary course of trade.

But look down the price list. See the window display. Visit the sale.
Examine the goods. Remember that no advertisement can tell you the half of what is here ready for your eyes.
